

FREEDOM

ACROSS

1 a 100 years 5 free time 7 a close connection 9 to concur, consent, share an opinion 11 to prevent from happening, cancel, stay away from 13 arms or legs, wings, branches of a tree 15 origins, starting point, the underground part of a plant 16 a female relative or unrelated elderly acquaintance 17 to leave, remove, take back 20 to stretch toward something, arrive at 21 an unusual habit, behaviour, personality trait, a peculiarity 24 decaying, rotting, sickening, foul-smelling 25 the evening or day before a special event 26 a temporary stop, brief hesitation, short delay 29 a structure or way that enables a connection across an obstacle (river, chasm, road, cultural gap) 30 therefore, hence, thus 32 people who keep watch in order to protect 33 armed hostile conflict between states, nations or opposing sides 34 to strike or hit with a strong blow, also in order to attract attention 35 clues about an event, anything that communicates meaning, symbols 36 to intrude unlawfully, cross somebody's bounds, enter land or property without permission

DOWN

2 people who live very close to one another 3 a beam of light, heat, or energy 4 one more time 5 allows, permits 6 to look for something carefully 7 air inhaled and exhaled 8 ruin, something damaged beyond repair 10 to be worthy of, merit 12 an official choice indicated by casting a ballot 14 demarcation lines separating countries, political or geographic regions 17 to notify of danger 18 experiencing intense sorrow, pain, or longing 19 care taken to avoid danger or risk 22 the remains of anything broken down, destroyed; rubble 23 to take possessions by force or violence 26 tranquility, freedom from worry 27 no longer fresh or new, tasteless 28 an advantage or extra; a bonus 31 belonging to or connected with us